

AWARD OVERVIEW

The COVID-19 pandemic is the most significant and wide-ranging business continuity incident of the century. This Award recognizes an organization that has demonstrated a capability to meet the challenges presented by COVID-19 -- not only to the organization itself, but also to the community it serves. Such commitment would include maintaining operations and ensuring the viability of the organization, providing a safe environment for its employees, relieving the financial pressure that employees face, aiding medical personnel, and providing support for the welfare of the community as a whole.
